

MAP READING FLUENCY

Get a more complete picture of early literacy

Learn how to use MAP® Reading Fluency™ assessment data to gain a more holistic view of your students' reading ability and to track progress. Knowing how to use this tool efficiently in classrooms will help you understand how to better support all students. You will also learn strategies for creating effective intervention programs and closing gaps in learning.

Half-day workshop options

Build a full day of learning in one of two ways: combine a half-day workshop with a half day of Data Coaching for the same audience or offer one half-day workshop to two different audiences. We recommend that the same audience not receive two half-day workshops in a day.

MAP Reading Fluency Basics

Get started with this half-day workshop to understand the assessment's unique purpose and value for both educators and students.

- + Explain the research on early reading development
- + Understand the purpose and capabilities of MAP Reading Fluency
- + Describe the value of MAP Reading Fluency to stakeholders

Essential Reports

Become familiar with the key reports you will use to gain insight into how students are developing foundational reading skills.

- + Connect how early reading development research supports and informs instruction
- + Use MAP Reading Fluency report data to determine key areas of instructional need
- + Communicate reading progress to stakeholders using MAP Reading Fluency data

Informing Instruction

Take the next step toward connecting MAP Reading Fluency data to instruction.

- + Identify the sequence of goals for learners to develop fluency with understanding
- + Align instructional practice with early reading development to differentiate effectively
- + Identify how MAP Reading Fluency supports decision-making conversations

In addition to teachers, we encourage you to invite building and district leadership to learn about MAP Reading Fluency and to help set clear expectations for staff members who will participate in the workshop.
